Latest news of the Friends

P hew! Well 2001 was a very busy year for the Friends of St Kilda Cemetery. Apart from running a series of Federation tours, we also ran a number of theatrical tours and published our book "Nation Builders".

"Nation Builders"

"Nation Builders – Great Lives and Stories from St Kilda General Cemetery" was successfully launched by the Member for Melbourne Ports, the Hon Michael Danby MP at a function at the cemetery in December 2001. Also participating in this launch was the General Manager of The Necropolis, Mr Russ Allison as well as the Prime Minister of Australia, the Right Honourable Alfred Deakin (played by Meyer Eidelson). Copies of "Nation Builders" may be purchased at any of our tours or activities or by completing the Order Form attached to this newsletter.

Wanted – Assistance with this Newsletter

The last five issues of "Cemetery Conversations" have been brilliantly put together by Cemetery Friend, Susan Hudson. We thank Susan for her skilful dedication to this task but now seek the services of another budding journalist or editor. If you are interested in assisting the Friends with this task, please contact the Secretary, Geoff Austin on 9527 2387. Access to and proficiency with a Personal Computer would be desirable.

Wanted – Stories and photographs

The Friends are constantly looking out for interesting stories and historical photographs of the cemetery for use on tours and in publications. If you have any interesting stories or are in possession of historical photographs (which can be copied and returned), please contact Pearl Donald on 9531 6832. ■

Program for 2002

P ut the following 2002 dates in your diary now. To cover expenses, a nominal charge will be made for tours and other activities in 2002. This charge is either waived or reduced for members. Tours of St Kilda Cemetery leave from the Dandenong Road entrance gates.
